About This Game

You woke up in an unfamiliar room, enshrouded in darkness. You listen to the silence that's been broken only by the quiet static noise coming from the TV speakers. You try to remember how did you get here. But your memories are gone. You can't get rid of the feeling that something terrible has happened. Writings on the walls. The feeling of being watched. You can hear someone's voice through that static noise... Or is it just your imagination..?

Shining Hotel: Lost in Nowhere is a first-person psychedelic horror game, and a chilling story full of sadness and despair. Face your seemingly long forgotten fears as you explore the mysterious hotel. Find out what you're destined to find in these black corridors: a path to salvation or a horrible death.

- Focus on exploration: try to find answers to your questions as you search every dark corner of the mysterious hotel.
- First-person horror: immerse yourself in the atmosphere of fear and anxiety that will haunt you until the very end of your journey.
- The danger that is always near: keep your eyes open while exploring the hotel, for it is not so deserted as it might seem at the first sight.
- Multiple endings: think carefully before you do something, because any of your actions can have dire consequences.

shining hotel lost in nowhere nice experience, good story.. but very bad gameplay!

what is horror to these developers? seriously, is this even scary?

it's more than a walking simulator!

I'm ok with the game length that everybody's complaining about, but it's not horror at all it doesn't worth this amount of money..

I'm sorry, but this is the truth. this is a fun game but short you guys need to add more stuff to this game
